CBF Easter Offering For National Missions

Through the end of April, we will be collecting contributions for National Missions, with a goal of $3000. UBC is again designating our Easter offering to the work of Paula Settle, CBF Associate in Nada, Kentucky. This area is one of our nation's 20 "pockets of poverty" identified by the Cooperative Baptist Fellowship over a decade ago.

Paula has identified several areas of need that reflect the positive cultural shift taking place in Nada. Three years ago Charlene Helton became the first Nada youth to attend college. This fall there will be 5 college students from the Nada area. All of these students are working part-time jobs, but Paula has suggested they all could use help with the cost of books, clothes and other supplies.

While our offering for this year is focused on helping the college students, we also want to give Paula the flexibility to continue to help with critical community needs. Please give a generous gift to our CBF Easter Offering for National Missions.

For more information about Paula Settle's work through the Cooperative Baptist Fellowship, go to <http://www.thefellowship.info/Missions/Field-personnel/Settle>.

A Word From Michael

Holy Week is upon us. For Christians throughout the centuries, Holy Week, the week spanning Jesus' final entry into Jerusalem through His Last Supper, betrayal, trial and crucifixion, and ending with Christ's resurrection the following Sunday, is the most sacred time of the Christian calendar. Time almost slows down as some Christian traditions call for worship gatherings every day of the week in order to provide followers an opportunity to worship and remember Jesus during the final week of His life.

While Baptist churches have not traditionally observed Holy Week services, many are now recognizing the value of these additional services, especially on Maundy Thursday and Good Friday. These services allow congregations to experience the sacrifice and the suffering that our Lord took upon Himself for the forgiveness of our sin and the restoring of our relationship with our heavenly Father. Without these extra worship gatherings, Christians often go from one jubilant service on Palm Sunday straight to another celebratory service on Easter Sunday, while skipping right over Jesus' suffering and crucifixion in between.

In our culture today, we want life to be easy, convenient, happy and without sacrifice. But that is not the narrow way of Christian discipleship. That's why I hope that you will allow yourselves to be inconvenienced this week by attending as many of the Holy Week services as possible, either here at UBC, or at some other church. May Holy Week be a reminder to us that our salvation, while a free and gracious gift from God, was obtained for us with great sacrifice at a very high cost.

Therefore, I invite you to follow Jesus into Holy Week. You experienced the joy of the Palms last Sunday. Now experience the sorrow of the Passion. Reflect in the silence at the Last Supper on Maundy Thursday. Grieve over Jesus' sacrifice and death on Good Friday. Then you will be prepared to celebrate the amazing miracle of Easter Sunday. On that day, we'll celebrate the resurrection of Jesus and the baptisms of Will Wagoner, Fanli Yang, and Yang Zhao. See you on the way!

Staff Anniversaries

April is a special month at UBC as we acknowledge as a church family the wonderful contributions of these two dedicated staff members:

Sue Walton (30 years)

Barbara Taylor Moore (27 years)

We thank Barbara and Sue for their many years of loyal and cheerful service. We are truly grateful for the special talents and loving spirit that each brings to the life and work of University Baptist Church!

Operation Inasmuch — Saturday May 10

Operation Inasmuch (OIAM) is a one-day event of hands-on projects for the benefit of those within the Charlottesville area.

While most OIAM participants will come from within the membership of UBC and All Souls, non-members, neighbors and friends are invited to participate.

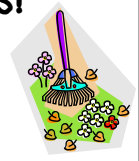

Signup sheets are available on Sunday morning, Wednesday evening, and during the week in the Church Office.

There are projects for all ages and interests!

OIAM Steering Committee: John Buchanan (Chair), Shirley Clark, Joseph Johnson, Scott Miller, Peter Ohlms, Bob Badgett

If you are interested in getting more information about the OIAM projects and signing up for the one which interests you, please attend the
