What is the most important question today?

ON WATCH

I wonder what questions we should be asking. Asking the right question can lead us to the right answers. Recently, I was working on an electrical diagram for my sailboat Life on Mars. It was time to replace a few parts. So, we reevaluated the entire system that powers the lights, navigation instruments, and communications. After drawing a wiring schematic, I sought advice. I emailed an engineer at Blue Sea Systems—they make a switch I use. I emailed an engineer at ProMarine—they make the battery charger I have. I emailed several marine electrical consultants.

To my surprise, everyone responded. In their replies, they all asked questions. Each question made me think about the system. Some pointed to aspects of wiring that I missed. Other questions reminded me of other parts of the system. Their questions helped me form a better plan. They asked good questions.

What questions should we ask about faith? In our faith journeys, we use various kinds of language. We use informative language to describe God or spiritual growth. E.g. “God is love.” We use expressive language to talk about our feelings in faith. Schleiermacher’s “religion is the feeling of absolute dependence” is expressive language. It comes up when we talk about our experience with Christ. E.g. “I feel God’s presence when I sail.” We also use directive language, especially in worship. E.g. “Let us pray” or “Let’s stand and sing.”

Questions are different kind of language. Questions like, “Where was God when I felt alone,” point us back to an expressive response, but that question is also confessional. It admits to a feeling. Questions draw out more information.

As we ask more questions, we hone our understanding of what it means to be a follower of Christ. This is as important today as at any point in history. What questions should we be asking? Join me in exploring inquiries and seeking God's direction in finding answers.

The future belongs to God and it is bright.

Peace,
Matt

Welcome, Val Fisk!

We are thrilled that the church voted unanimously on July 26 to call Val Fisk as our new Associate Minister, to work with our youth and collegiate ministries. Need a Mask??

Volunteers in our church have been hard at work sewing beautiful fabric masks. Do you need one? This expression of love from our talented church members is one way that we can take care of one another. If you do not have a mask yet or if you need another, please contact the church office or one of the ministers so that we can get a fabric mask to you. There are also baskets of masks in the church lobby if you'd like to stop by and pick one up!

Like to Sew?

We extend our deep gratitude to the volunteers in our church who have already made dozens of fabric masks for others who need them. If you would like to share your skills and join in this effort, call Will Brown or email him at wbrown@universitybaptist.org

Online and Automatic Giving

DID YOU KNOW?

Online giving simplifies contributing by allowing for a specific dollar amount to be sent to University Baptist Church on a specific date, thus decreasing the number of checks you have to write. You can set this up to happen automatically from your bank account, or make a single contribution on our website or Facebook page. For more information, visit universitybaptist.org/give or call our church office.
